To the Editor

Many fringe lunatics may be grateful to you for assuring the wide dissemination of the techniques of guerilla attack that you published in your front page story today. But I wonder what concept of press responsibility can justify your printing such a manual, in such instructive detail.

If you don't understand what I mean, you may learn it to your grief when some emotionally disturbed juvenile tosses a Molotov cocktail and some spiked cherry bombs into your own offices, having learned such interesting arts from your own story.
